Flue-Cured Quota Announced

The U. S. Department of Agriculture today announced a National marketing quota of 1,071 million pounds for the 1970 crop of flue-cured tobacco, 5 percent less than the quota set for the 1969 crop.

With the National average yield goal for 1970 remaining unchanged at 1,854 pounds per acre, the resulting 1970 National acreage allotment is 577,670 acres. This is also 5 percent below the allotment announced for 1969.

Under acreage - poundage marketing quotas, if marketings from a farm in any year are less than the poundage quota for the farm, the difference is added to the farm's quotas (both acres and pounds) for the following year. Likewise, any marketings in excess of farm's poundage quota are deducted from the farm's quotas (both acres and pounds) for the following year.

Notices of individual farm acreage allotments and marketing quotas for 1970 will be mailed to farm operators by local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee as soon as adjustments can be made to reflect undermarketings and over-marketings of 1969 farm quotas. As in the past, a small acreage will be reserved in 1970 for establishing allotments for farms having no flue-cured acreage history during the last five years , for correcting errors and for adjusting inequities.

In a referendum held in July 1967, a total of 162,314 flue-cured tobacco growers voted 65 percent in favor of continuing acreage - poundage marketing quotas on the 1968, 1969 and 1970 crops.

A notice of determinations to be made with respect to the 1970 quota was printed in the Oct. 23, 1969, Federal Register. The notice stated that consideration would be given to written views, recommendations, and date pertaining to the 1970 quota. In addition, a public meeting was held in Raleigh N. C. on Nov. 20 to discuss the supply and demand outlook and to obtain views and recommendations. USDA officials reported that views offered at the meeting varied from those who favored either a reduction in the 1970 quota or the National average yield goal to those who desired no changes from prior years. The subsequent decision was that a reduction of 5 percent in the National marketing quota and acreage allotment was necessary to bring supplies in line with demand.

Flue-cured tobacco is grown in Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia.

The Pastor Speaks

The Unwanted Birth

Matt 1:18--25

Last week in our study of the birth of Christ we noticed that His birth was an unusual birth; unusual in it's manner, manifestation, and meaning. This week let us ensider that His birth was "unwanted." His birth was unwanted, (Matt. 2, 3, 12, 13, 16.) It was first unwanted at Bethlehem, (Luke 2:7) "There was no room in the inn for Him." Then His birth was unwanted by Herod the King, (Matt. 2:16). "He sought to kill Jesus." His birth was unwanted by those at Nazareth, (Matt. 13:54-57), "They were offended in Him." His birth was unwanted by the Pharisees, (Matt. 12:24), for "they despised His power." His birth was unwanted by the Jews (Matt. 9:10-12) for they "despised his love." His birth was unwanted by Judas Iscariot, (John 12:3-5) because he "begrudged the ointment that was used by Mary to anoint the feet of Jesus." His birth was unwanted by the rulers, (John 19:19-21) because they "despised even His title, King of the Jews." His birth was unwanted by the soldiers, (John 19:24) they "stripped Him naked." His birth was unwanted by the, scribes, (Matt. 26:12-13) they "hribed His enemies to lie about His resurrection." The birth of Christ is unwanted by many today. We want to commercialize Christmas and we want to exchange gifts at Christmas time. Many people want to drink during the Christmas season. Many want to visit friends and relatives during the Christmas season, but very few have a desire to worship the Lord Jesus Christ. His birth certainly was unusul and His birth was unwanted. Next week we shall see that His birth was "unexpected." I trust that before we conclude this series of messages on the birth of our Saviour, that you my reader, will have trusted Him as your Lord and Saviour.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

STILL LOOKING

Lesson for December 14, 1969

Background Scripture: Psalms 130, 1; 119:1-16; Luke 1:57 through 2:3.

Devotional Reading: Psalms 130.

And they all lived happily ever after. Perhaps it seems that that is the way the Old Testament ought to end. But it doesn't.

The people of Israel had certainly had their ups and downs. Led out of Egyptian captivity by Moses and wandering in the wilderness of Sinai for 40 years, they had finally come to the Promised Land of Canaan. Under Saul and David they had become, at least for a short while, a united monarchy. Yet, at the death of Solomon, the nation had been split into two, never again to reunite. Both ruled by a succession of many bad kings and a few good ones, the two nations grew farther and farther away from the covenant relationship with God. Consequently, in 726 B. C., Israel was carried into captivity by Assyria and in 586 B.C. Judah fell to the Babylonians. Thus began the long exile and the days of longing to return.

Not "Happily Ever After"

During the exile the prophets counseled the Jews with the promise of a new restoration which God would send. At last, when the Persians had replaced the Babylonians, the Jews were allowed to return to their homeland. Some did return and have been studying the story of how they began to rebuilt both the city and the temple under the leadership of Ezra and Nehemiah.

And that is where the Old Testament narrative ends. We leave the returned exiles rebuilding the Jewish state. When we enter the New Testament, we find that roughly four centuries have elapsed and many changes have taken place which indicate that these people had not lived "happily ever after."

What had happened in those 400 years is told in part in the Apocrypha, the writings that are not included in the Protestant versions of the Bible. Protestant reformers held that these books were not authoritative as scripture. For the most part, they were written in and are about the period that separates the Old and New Testaments.

A History Of Domination

Actually, the restoration after the Babylonian exile had never been full or complete. Cyrus had allowed them to return to Jerusalem and rebuild the temple under his protection, but that did not mean they were free and independent. When, in turn, the Persian rule was ended and replaced by the Macedonians under Alexander the Great and his successors, the situation remained very much the same.

The conquest of the Jewish state by the Greek king of Syria, Antiochus II, at the beginning of the second century B.C. had a serious effect upon the Jews. Already threatened and divided by the Greek culture (Hellenism), their faith was threatened with extinction. A priest named Mattias slew the Syrian officer sent to erect a heathen altar in a place named Modein. From that act of defiance, there was ignited, first an underground resistance, then guerilla warfare, and finally open armed conflict, that drove out the oppressors and regained Jewish independence once again. The revolt was led by the sons of Mattias, particularly by Judas Maccbaeus, for whom the era is named.

Puppets Again

This family ruled briefly until the rise of Rome brought new domination and internal division. The nation was divided and ruled by a number of Roman puppet rulers, the situation which we find as the New Testament opens.

Despite the end of the Babylonian exile and the brave new beginning, the messianic prophecies had not been fulfilled. Jews still looked for God to send a Messiah to usher in a new day for Israel.

It was in response to this need and into this world that Jesus came.

and everyone for help making this program a success. This is a reminder to all members of the Canaan Baptist Church, please don't forget the church meeting Saturday at 2 p.m. Regular service Sunday at 11:30 a.m. Come and worship with us. Sunday night at 7:30 p. m. Rev. B. T. Christian and Mt. Airy Junior Choir will be here, Sponsored is Mrs. Dorothy Goggins. Please come and help make this program a success.

Mrs. Marie Hudson still on the sick list. We ask of you your prays that Mrs. Hudson will have a speedy recovery.

USE FIRE CAREFULLY

Your cattle will return more net dollars if the per cent calf crop is boosted up and calves weigh more.

With 32% calves an increase of 50 pounds of weight adds additional income of $16 per calf sold -- or $1600 per 100 calves.

This extra weight can come with little or no additional cost -- time of calving can add weight. Ideally we shouldn't calve earlier than mid-November.

Look at how calf crop percentage affects the profit picture. Let's assume that you are selling calves that are averaging 450 pounds. If your calving percentage is only 80% your actual selling weight per cow in the herd is just 360 pounds.

Saving calves is the first order of business for the cow-calf man.

Egg Price High

Prices paid to producers are the highest in over a decade. Tight supplies and increased usage by processors are factors for this.

The number of layers is approximately the same as last year's total. Pullets three months and older not of laying age are up 5 percent from the same period in 1968.

Prices on the farm last Thursday in Virginia were: Grade A large 58 1/2 – 62 1/2 cents per dozen; mediums, 57 1/2 - 601/2 cents; and smalls, 42 1/2 -48 cents. Large white eggs in New York were 63 1/2-64 cents and mediums were 61 1/2 -62 cents.

BROILERS

Prices are expected to remain steady to the holiday season.

The U. S. broiler supply for December is estimated to be 11 percent above last year's.

Last Thursday's negotiated prices for ready-to-cook broilers were 27-27 1/2 cents per pound.
